

Roy McConkey - Abstract

The immediate beneficiaries may be mothers but bringing benefits to the person with special needs and the wider family presents additional challenges.

Likewise the wider service systems should gain in terms of cost-efficiency.

What evidence of this do we need?